2019 RECAP & REVIEW F.DOT

BN Agent, X

No one better than Farreno Ferguson to give an honest yearly review of what took place in The Bahamas. From the good bad and ugly he breaks it all down, from regular society straight to parliament house, no major action is left in the dark. But speaking of left in the dark one of our biggest problem makers all year 2019 was BPL and just like Farreno said we are going to have to deal with them, the same way how we came together and made them take down the ugly christmas tree.

We must stand up and fight against this BPL demon come 2020! No more talking it, we must join together as one to see to it either these bills are lowered or over power the government and force them to allow another power company to come on our land to create competition for the better.

DIDN'T GET

Expectations were extremely high last week thursday as thousands stood on bank lines hoping to have the addtional $1400 on their bank account. Many persons were happy and then you had many who didnt know they werent getting it.

BN Agent, X

Civil servants were overly excited last week Thursday when word of the $1,400 additional pay got out. Lines at multiple banks were out of the door, taking tellers hours to get everyone served. But with so much good, bad is usually around the corner, which the case for many civil servants who found out that there was no $1,400 awaiting them, as they watched there other co workers rejoice.

Apparently particular workers were left out of batch due to the agreement for who all would be getting the additional payout. The person left out were civil servants who were on contract, so that being those who are in all departments whether its an immigration officer, police officer, national insurance worker, as long as you didnt have a permanent contract with the government you got left out of the cut. Other persons that did not receive the $1,400 were many foreign workers who may have been in the work field longer than other civil servants but because they were on contract, they also did not receive. Lastly those who were fresh into the government sector with only 6 months of work or even 1 and a half years they also were not paid the $1,400, probation usually takes 2 years to be complete when working for government in some cases, so everyone that were still on probation did not receive a dime of additional cash.

Aside from many persons standing on long lines, waiting to cash out there account only to be disappointed when they found out they didn't make the cut, many persons still walked out in high spirits happy knowing additional cash would be given to them in the near future. When speaking to some of disappointed civil servants they said only thing they can hope for now is that "the promise of minimum wage being raised actually becomes true".

HE'S BACK, AFTER ASKING OFFICERS TO BE PUT HIM IN JAIL

BN Agent, X

The rum talker says last year he had a gun, but he notice when he try to shoot people they would zig zag, causing him to miss. But this year he says he invested in a gun from England, and this gun does go "purrrrrrrlllllll" and he dont miss nothing with this new gun. I swear we cant make this stuff up. If you thought him asking to be arrested a few weeks ago was bad, look what happens when that liquor gets back in his system. From the jail cell to now telling everyone he is the gun man and when he shoot now he dont miss and for this reason you are officially our bongie of the day.

FATAL ACCIDENTS OVER THE WEEKEND

BN Agent, R

As we are all merry and geared up for the holiday season and look forward to spending quality time with our families and loved ones, tragedy always seem to be lurking. Two families are left mourning their loved ones as two separate traffic fatalities claimed the lives of two individuals.

Both fatalities occurred in separate family islands. The first fatality occurred on the island of Andros in Mangrove Cay. The deceased has been identified as David "DJ" Russell. The second fatality took place on the island of Grand Bahama shortly after 1am.

JOMO CAMPBELL FEEDS THE COMMUNITY

BN Agent, V

It's that time of the year where the spirit of giving is most prevalent and shared amongst friends, loved ones, communities and strangers. No one conclusion has been made as to why giving is so easy during the Christmas holiday but most conclude it is the time many will most likely be generous. Jomo has in his own way given back with meals freely given back to those who wish to be remembered by someone with love and care. Jumo Campbell had meals prepared for distribution on Mason's Addition Father Marshall Cooper Park it was just one of his twelve locations that he stopped and distributed 100 plates of food at. While there were no Ebenezer Scrooge insight we definitely commend one of Santa's Helpers who wished to spread peace on earth and goodwill towards men.

INTERNATIONAL MEEK MILL ABOUT TO BE A DADDY AGAIN

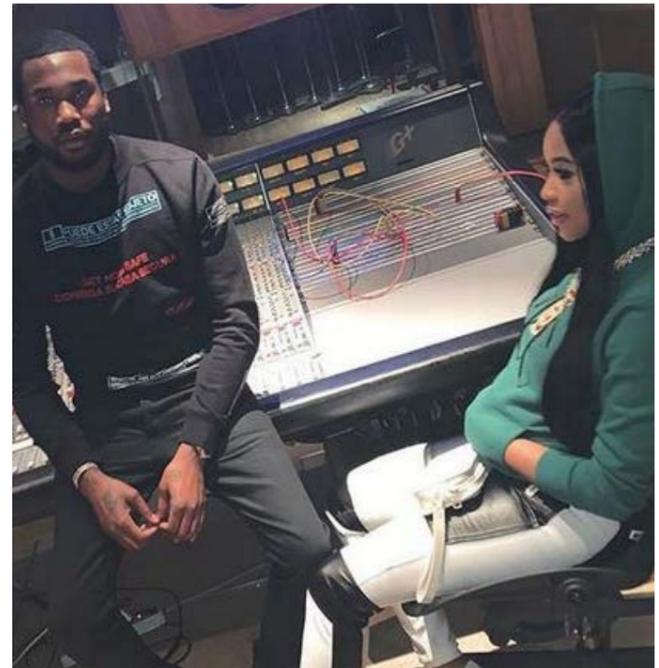

BN Agent, X

Meek Mill - he's about to be a daddy again.

His longtime girlfriend Milano just announced that she's pregnant. Milano made the pregnancy announcement yesterday, during her annual Christmas fashion show. She told fans that she's expecting a baby - and while she didn't name the father - everyone suspects that Meek is the dad. Milano Di Rouge and Meek Mill have been involved for months now, practically most of this year. The pair have been going strong, although they never publicly confirmed their relationship. The Philly rapper recently reacted to Milano's store in Philadelphia being robbed by thieves, and the rapper thinks the perpetrators lack vision.

Electrical union head concerned about solar push

The Bahamas Electrical Workers Union (BEWU) is concerned by the competition of solar energy in The Bahamas, union president Paul Maynard said yesterday. "You know in the speech the prime minister gave, he's encouraging people to go solar," Maynard said. "As I said that's our competition. Once he, once the prime minister, is going along that mindset then you know we have to be concerned. I have to be concerned as the future of the company that I work for. I have to be very concerned because you know if the company shuts down there's no need for me or [any] of my members."

Last year, Prime Minister Dr. Hubert Minnis said his government will fully utilize renewable energy, particularly solar energy, to achieve a reduction in power costs, which have burdened Bahamians for years. He said The Bahamas is "ideal for solar energy".

"Our transformation to renewable energy is both a moral and an economic imperative," Minnis said. "It is an imperative that will truly help to advance our economy and to help us to achieve world status in the use of renewable energy." Maynard told reporters that the BEWU views solar energy as its competition because "once [customers] make the initial investment, the rest is free". "You know our reliable customer base, the customer base that pays the light bills on time and all of it...is Lyford Cay, Albany, Old Fort Bay, Paradise Island, etc.," he said.

JEEP BREAKS THROUGH AIRPORT FENCE AND FLIPS OVER

In light of traffic fatalities over the weekend, there has been numerous reports of traffic accidents. A family of four was videotaped escaping a flipped vehicle on swampy terrain. A woman who appeared to have sustained an injury to her leg was seen pulling 1 of the 3 children from the vehicle. The family of 4 did not appear to have any major visible injuries. A vehicle in a separate car accident was also flipped on West Bay Street.

185 ILLEGALS CAUGHT

The southern borders of The Bahamas continue to be an area of concern for the Royal Bahamas Defence Force as it has stepped up its enforcement initiatives in that area. As a result of this, and shared intelligence, a total of 185 Haitian migrants were apprehended very late Friday evening during a joint operation by the Royal Bahamas Defence Force, Operations Bahamas Turks and Caicos (OPBAT - a tripartite agreement between the US, Turks & Caicos and Bahamas) and Turks and Caicos authorities. While on routine patrol, an OPBAT helicopter spotted a 30-foot low profile, wooden vessel at 5:00 pm approximately 24 NM off Little Inagua with an unknown number of persons onboard. Turks & Caicos authorities, OPBAT and the Defence Force Operations were immediately alerted, and each entity directed an asset assigned to the area to intercept. HMBS BAHAMAS arrived on scene shortly after 11 pm with permission from Turks and Caicos Foreign Affairs to assist in removing the migrants from their unsafe sloop, under the SOLAS Convention (1974). A total of 84 persons were taken aboard the USCG Cutter, which will be transferred to the TCI authorities, and the 101 migrants onboard HMBS BAHAMAS will be transported to Mathew Town, Inagua for further processing by Immigration authorities on that island. The RBDF has been implementing measures to address threats and challenges of the influx of migrants from Haiti, especially as the southeasterly winds become more favourable for an easier sojourn into the Bahamas from Haiti and also in light of the more than two months of demonstrations that the neighbouring country has been experiencing in recent times. The Royal Bahamas Defence Force is actively monitoring changes in illicit trends and patterns which are expected to occur and for which the RBDF must anticipate, adapt and adjust for proactively.
